Gospel of Mary (Magdalene): Written early in the 2nd century CE, it was lost for over 1,500 years. Fewer than nine pages of ancient text survived. In the late 19th century, a single, fragmentary copy was discovered. This brief narrative presents a radical interpretation of Jesus' teachings, critiques the fallacy of illegitimate power, and offers a utopian vision of spiritual perfection. It even demands that we rethink the basis for Church authority. All in the name of a woman...

Helping Hands

What's this all about, you ask?

Well, it's a little bit of a lot of things.....

Maybe delivering a hot meal or two after surgery.
Maybe making an occasional phone call, or visiting to keep in touch with a homebound parishioner.
Maybe driving someone to church who otherwise could not go.
Maybe changing a battery in a smoke detector, or replacing a light bulb.

Would you like to offer a Helping Hand every now and then?
